Was a lot of problems with food, it was difficult to walk with the luggage around the museum
 Boring sometimes
 Expensive everything, too short, because on Thursday (the 4th day) we just started to normally communicate with everybody from others countries and it was basically the last day
 The task was a little too big
 Some persons want to dominate the task we got at the innovation camp was a little bit hard, and since we had to work a lot with it and take it very seriously, we got a little unmotivated and tired.
 Organisation of lunches could be better, it's could outside and we couldn't drink tee or coffee for our lunch tickets in BI; it was hard to communicate with some people because of their poor language.
 General low proficiency of english among the delegates; lack of sightseeing activities (really wanted to see the fjords D.)
 It was hard to get away from us. You get tired after all new experience.
